

Notice of error

We would like to notify our stakeholders of an error in the English language version of the Natural Value Initiatives final report “Linking Shareholder and Natural Value” launched in October 2009. The report classifies Bunge as a producer when the more accurate classification is as a processor. This error does not affect the substance of the report, nor does it affect its key messages or the sector leaders which remain M&S, United Plantations, Unilever, SABMiller/Fosters and British American Tobacco.

This error has been corrected in the portuguese language version of the report by merging the producer and processor sectors. We apologise for any confusion this causes.
